

Disruptive Student Enrolled in a Class

A disruptive student may be sanctioned pursuant to the Code of Student Conduct. In extreme cases, or cases involving disruption by a person other than a student, the person may be denied access to campus. Faculty should document all instances of disruption to be considered in these processes. For information on sanctions under the Code of Student Conduct, contact the Office of Judicial Affairs. For information on denial of access, contact University police.