

FARHAD HEIDARIAN

Farhad Heidarian found his interest in art in his grandfather painting studio at home.

He continued his education in art in US studying painting and sculpture at Texas State University, attended classes in Maryland Institute of Art, and Corcoran College of Art.

As he learned to appreciate modern art he found his interest in abstract works, and enjoyed New York Abstract Expressionism in particular. In his works he sought the surreal quality and revolutionary ideas of this school.

In his visual experiments he works in digital using pixels or pigments on canvas. He sometimes combines oriental patterns with abstract imagery. His intent is to create metaphors to the mystery of life, sub conscious in magic of art, and images beyond what appear to be.

He has shown his works in Maryland local and academic galleries. His recent works display in his Facebook page Sarveh.
