

NIKITA YOGARAJ

Nikita Yogaraj is a Baltimore-based Tamil Indian-American artist. The daughter of immigrant parents who grew up in multiple cities in the US, she is a primarily self-taught artist who has also worked in public health disparities. Her mediums for creative work focus on mixed medium pieces with pen and ink drawing techniques atop watercolor, gouache and/or acrylic paint on paper. For a subset of her work, she takes the tradition of portraiture and integrates it with the styles of protest posters, and graphic fiction and nonfiction storytelling, all of which she has been inspired for her work through their aesthetic and uses as medium for social justice commentary.
