

SLOTHPOTATO

Hi, my name is Linh Thuy Thi Pham. But I like to go by Slothpotato. I am Mixed-Asian American. I was born in Mississippi but raised in Baltimore, Maryland. I am currently in my final semester at Towson University to earning a bachelor's degree in general Fine Arts with a minor in Art History. With that being said, to tell you the truth, abstract art is thrilling for me. Working in abstract form is like your mind going into unknown places, and the more you walk, the more it becomes clear. For instance, the feeling of being free from life—it's unexplainable. It's like saying, "I do not know where I am going, but I am going somewhere (hopefully good)." On that note, it's also a form of language where I am able to build a bridge of better understanding between me and the audience.
