A NOTE ON THE STUDIO STUDIO SERIES

The Fall 2024 Student Studio series features workshop productions of four new plays written by TU student playwrights. The workshop production process empowers the playwrights to explore their scripts through conversations, workshops, production meetings and rehearsals with their creative team (director, dramaturg, actors, designers, and stage managers). Playwrights are encouraged to listen, watch, and revise their work if they are so inspired. So if you see an actor with a script in their hand, know that a playwright has been busy and now you get to see how a new choice works for the very first time.
